About Wildix

The company was founded in 2005 by the Osler brothers, two young entrepreneurs with a solid background in information technology and engineering.

Starting as a small R&D department in Odessa, Ukraine, Wildix soon became a multinational company that supports thousands of small and medium businesses in increasing their revenue thanks to cutting-edge communication technology.

The company is based in Tallinn, Estonia, and has a presence in 135 countries thanks to sites in the US, Germany, France, Italy, Spain, and the UK.

Wildix is more than a communications system that unifies internal and external communications within a single, intuitive interface. The Wildix solution is also designed to boost customers' business.

Wildix means up to 52% more sales, because it removes all the bottlenecks that prevent online visitors from becoming your customers by connecting websites and phone systems. The platform's WebRTC technology ensures this merge happens in the fastest and safest way possible.

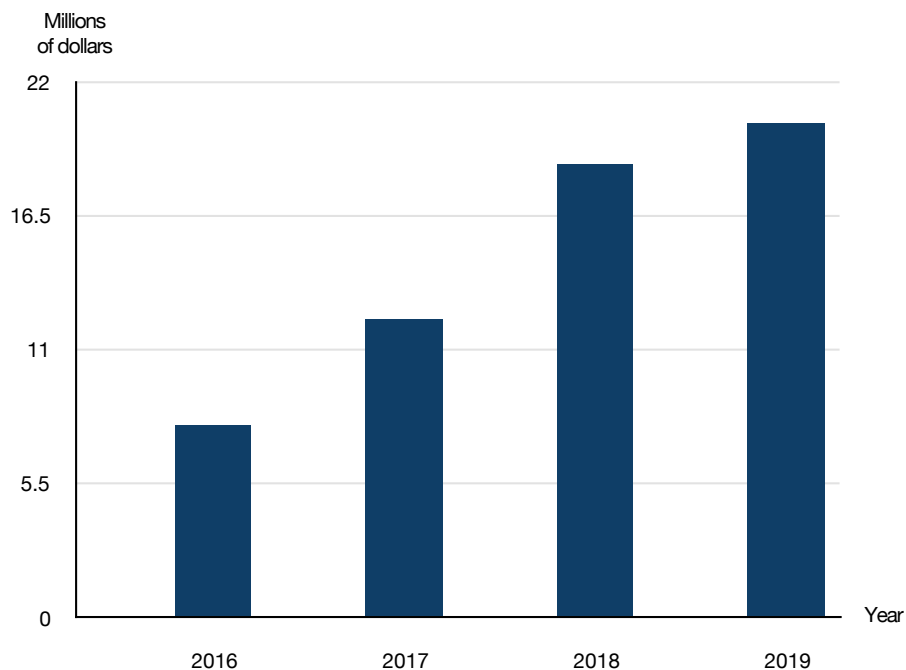

The Wildix solution is also an effective tool for enhancing efficiency, helping customers reduce time-wasting daily operations and save up to 25% of that time per day. This happens because the Wildix interface is fast and easy to use, and because the system is integrated with all of the most preeminent business software currently on the market.

But business and efficiency are nothing if they are not supported by the strongest security. That's why Wildix is 100% secure through secure-by-design architecture: the Wildix solution guarantees that the customer does not have to worry about purchasing external firewalls, expensive VPNs, or cumbersome SBCs, because the platform has powerful protections built directly into the system.

Wildix is about more sales and more efficiency in the most secure-by-design way possible. Thousands of small and medium-sized businesses all over the world have already chosen Wildix as their favourite business tool.
